THE GAME OF LIFE

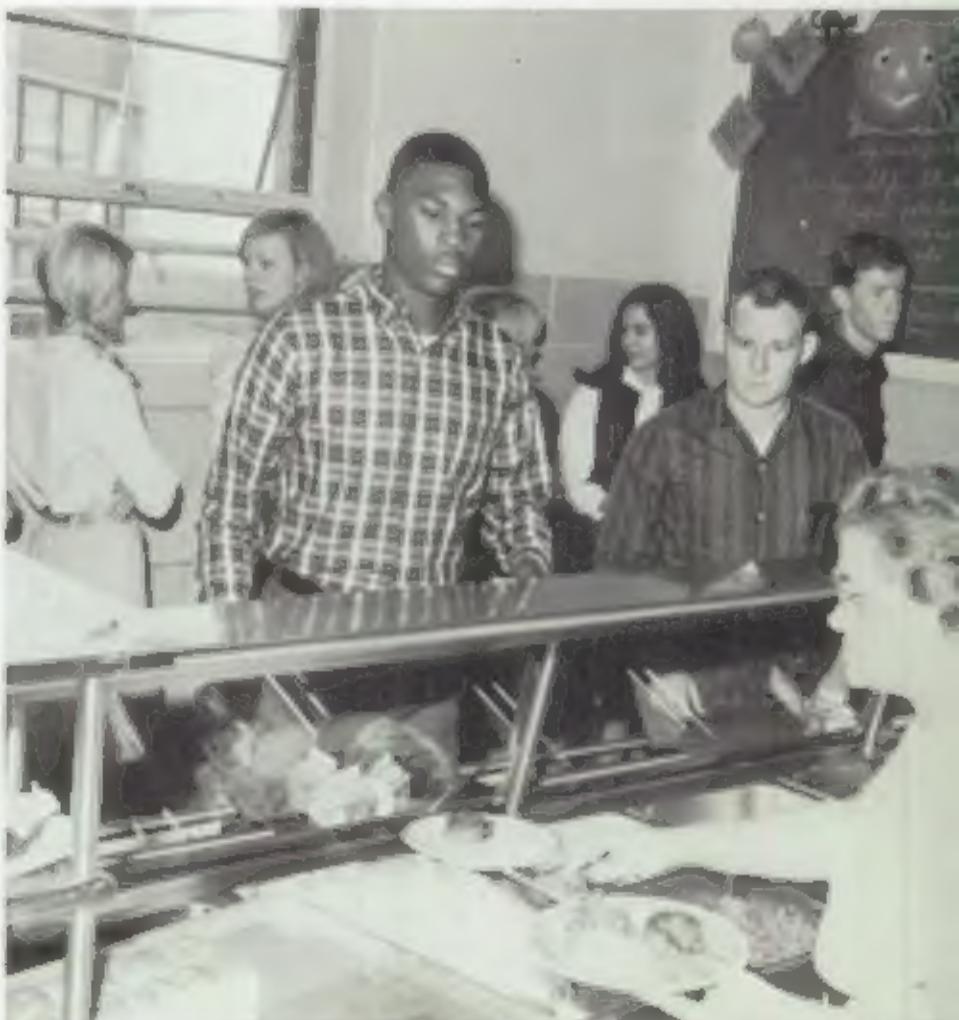

MAPLEWOOD HIGH SCHOOL
NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE
VOL. VIII

THE GAME OF LIFE

A game demands teamwork from the players, guidance from the coaches, and the challenge of a goal. All were ours during nine full exciting innings of the 1967 season. Each day the buzzer sounded, and each player scrambled to his position. Sometimes we didn't know where to go, but always we knew the team was on the bench and in the bleachers giving us the courage to keep on trying. We learned to take the good with the bad, though the breaks seemed few and the challenge too great, suddenly we learned that the experience was the point of it all.

The two hundred lettermen of '67 now leave, for they have reached the end of the beginning. As each begins to discover his position, his game spreads beyond M.H.S. The positions left will be filled. Eager underclassmen await them. And now, though we go, the game goes on.

STAR PLAYERS OF THE GAME

CLASS OF 1967

DEDICATION OF THE GAME

Before recapping the game of life which we played during 1966-67, we pause to dedicate our efforts to one who dedicated his efforts to us during many seasons and many games. Those in his classes may have once or twice tasted defeat, but just enough to learn that they didn't like it. He was known as one of the friendliest and most spirited players of the game. Still he was a mentor most of all.

For the laughter, the lessons, and the love he gave to us, we dedicate our game of life, the Maplelogue '67 to ... G. C. Bucy, our friend.

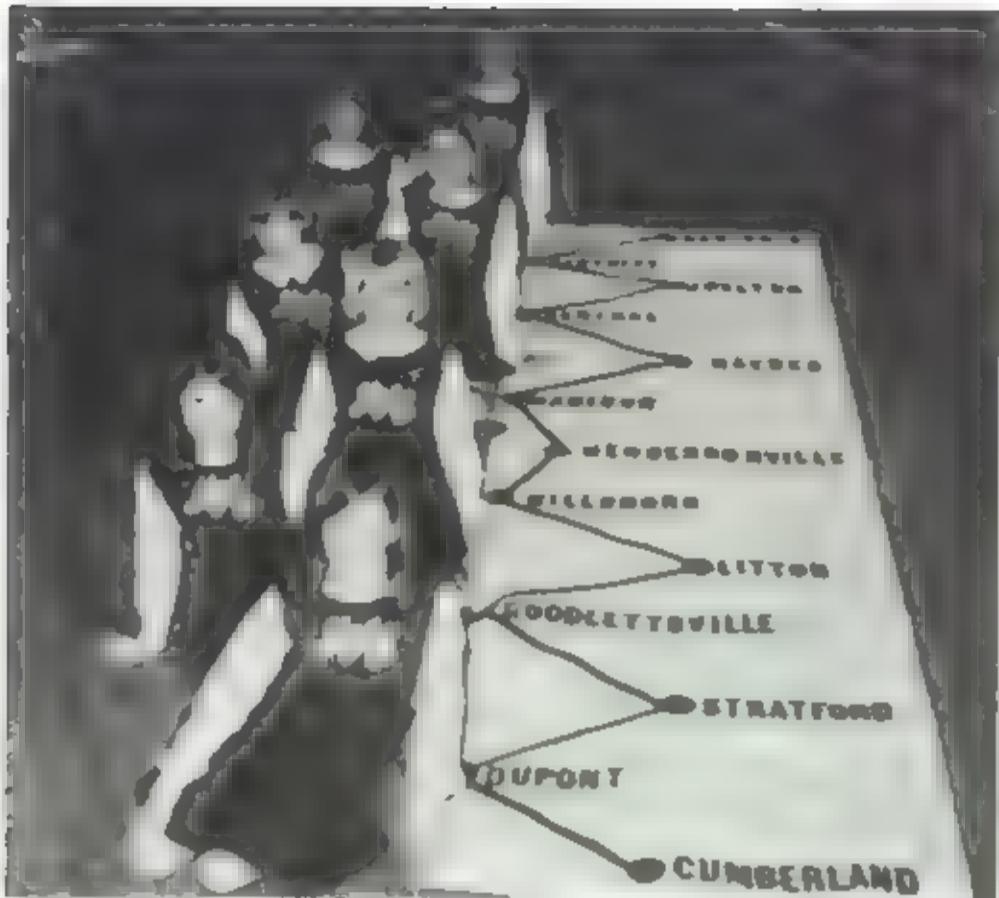

THE SPARK

THE SPARKLE . . . OF THE GAME

MOMENTS OF THE GAME . . .

1967 means moments to remember. Tension at time-out. Hoaxes while the teacher's in the hall. Farcical role-switching for powder-puff game. Cheerleaders charting a map to victory. Coping with an in-class composition. Struggling but sharing a season's code: "Give up never; try harder forever!"

The link between living and learning was strengthened all season long. It somehow seemed the point of the game. Finding an answer only posed another question. One book finished paved the way to another one. In-class discussions spilled over into the halls. And high school for us was off-campus as well as on. Learning, after all, is a life-long game.

COACHES OF THE GAME . . .

JUDY WHERRY, IDA WEST, Secretaries

ADAM DEBERRY, Assistant Principal

TEACHERS

Crafts and sculpture teacher, Mr. Bob Ridley, transforms a piece of paper into a piece of art.

"Ready? Set? Hit it!" Mr. Ted Miller animates eighth grade band.

Books, books, books . . . for research, for relaxation, for fun. Kept available and orderly by librarians Hale and Patrick.

The modern mathematician, Mr. Burton Whited, uses the abacus rather than his fingers.

In one of Metro's three new business machines labs, Mrs. Jean Sealf guides the girls who hope to solve the problems of the world.

IN ACTION

Although some students feel biology is for the birds, Mrs. Benedict proves that butterflies play a big part in it, too.

"Don't be a fool—stay in school." . . . motto for posters and programs of counselors Melton and Williams.

In an age of overstressed quantity, Mr. Charles Liggett stresses hand-crafted quality in industrial arts projects.

Winner of four trophies last summer, tennis coach Miss Pam Hickman began the '67 season on Maplewood's brand new courts with a contagious zest.

Do Maplewood teachers rule with an iron hand? Mrs. Susan McClure demonstrates Beowulf's hold on Grendel during a senior English class.

Home Economist Hedgecoth makes girls fit for the fashion-conscious world.

FACULTY IN FOCUS

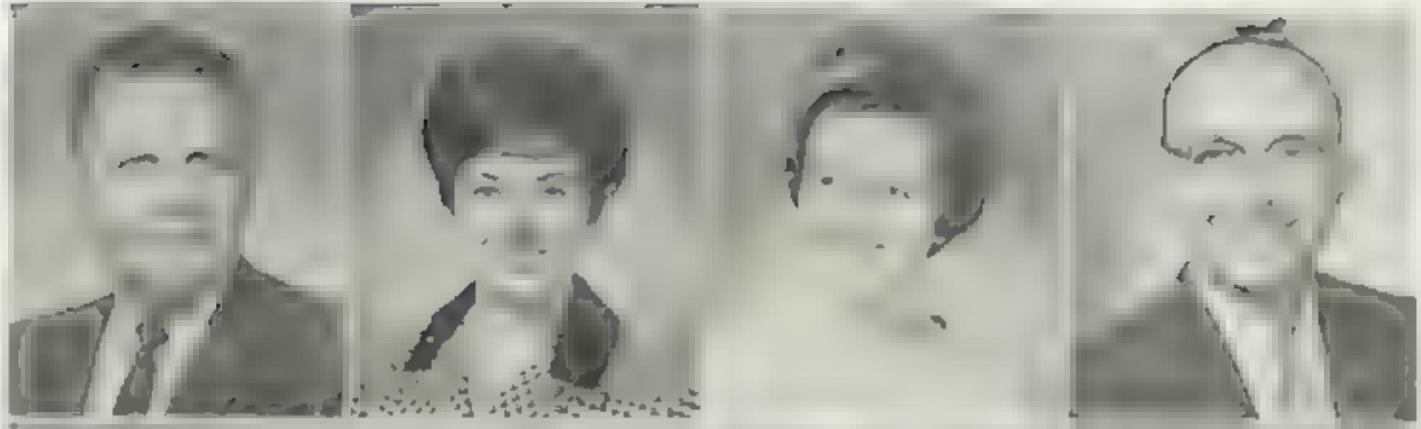

Master the machine or machines will master man . . . Buford Simpson, General Metals instructor.

How can I understand myself if I don't understand the world, and how can I understand the world if I don't understand myself? . . . Jim Ingram, sociologist.

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE GAME

MISS AND MISTER MAPLEWOOD

JOYCE EVERETT
GLENN HICKMAN

Mister and Miss Maplewood is a title given this year by the Class of 1967 to the typical senior boy and girl. The only qualifications were that they be seniors and have an overall high school grade average of a C. Nominated by the senior class, the typical senior boy and girl were elected by the majority vote of the entire senior high.

MISS AND MISTER MAPLELOGUE

Announced this year are the titles of Mister and Miss Mapleogue. It is a honor to the ideal senior boy and girl and is the highest honor bestowed by the school and Maplelogue '67.

In order to be Mister and Miss Mapleogue, these seniors must have excelled in extra-curricular activities, demonstrated leadership, and have been good students, maintaining an overall B average.

Nominated by the Class of '67, they were elected by the sophomore, junior and senior classes. They represent the ideal, respected by all.

HOMECOMING

Homecoming starts with a shaker sale. Add a float, a queen, attendants, team captains, corones, a game, the Alma Mater, school spirit, Alumni, a crown, a kiss, and a dance. The image is complete.

The rains came and destroyed the first float. But the rain didn't dampen Spirit. Enthusiastic supporters rebuilt the float in one day. Thus, the cheerleaders and fans paid tribute again this year, not merely to the game, team, queen, but to Maplewood, our Alma Mater. Homecoming '67 was a success.

MAPLELOGUE CITATIONS

RONNIE BURNETT, for the recognition in the field of sports which he brought to our school.

LEEGENE PEGRAM, for promoting special never-to-be-forgotten proms and dances, gladly and tirelessly.

ERNEST STARTUP, for his unfaltering, behind-the-scenes work as sports statistician and Maplelogue editor.

A Maplelogue Citation is a commendation for a job well done. It is given to those who have gone over and beyond the call of duty in rendering service to Maplewood.

Five were selected by their contributions to the different phases of Maplewood. These were the ones who walked the second mile, willing always to give a hand, sometimes contributing more of their time than they could afford.

For their humble service rendered to make Maplewood a better school, we of Maplelogue '67 do gratefully cite:

DEBBIE SYKES, for her enthusiastic and tireless support of school spirit.

BRENDA PREUETT, for her ceaseless efforts in giving of her artistic talents to anyone who requested them.

BEAUTY PAGEANT

Special effects best describes The 1967 Miss Maplewood Beauty Pageant. Twelve beauties from twelve campus clubs paraded before judges and a full house in casual and formal dress. Talent sparked the show. Their repertoire ranged from "Birth of the Blues" to fashion modeling to a segment of "My Fair Lady." There were colored lights, background music, lovely sets, a popular d.j. emcee, The Legends Combo at intermission, door prizes, glamour, excitement, and finally the questions, the answers, and a Queen. Trophy, flowers, and tiara. Color her happy. Maplelogue '67 had created a successful happening . . . again.

MAPLELOGUE STAFF

Sixteen were striving to please a student body.
Planning pictures to recapture and copy to recall.
Combined they represent 1967, our year.

It was the first year for color with quality.
The theme had a meaning, the meaning of life.

Coordination was the key: tying in events with pictures, pictures with copy, copy with the theme, the theme with the cover.

The trials and work on Project '67 L.O.G. are over. The need was met and the goal was won.

Progress was shown in discontinuing the gossip sheet, covering controversial issues, introducing the Maple Leaf Pantherette, printing the first twelve page issue in color, reviving the "Fads and Fashions" and "Clubs-in-Brief" columns, and breaking all former sales records. Maple Leaf, 1967 edition, was a sell-out success.

fascinating Ford-sponsored assembly.

SPONSORS: Mrs. Mari Hatter and Marc Shannon.

1967 was a good year for the Student Council. Their corsages brightened Homecoming. By sponsoring the Holiday Ball, they sent the Christmas season into full swing. By painting the bleacher walkways, they paved the way to sports spectator convenience. By painting and keeping the marquee up-to-date, they kept the community informed on M.H.S. Quality assemblies entertained us. New spirit buttons and badges boosted team support. They sold the school on sweatshirts "with class."

Inter-high treasurer, Sue Wilson, brought recognition from other schools. As a result of their sometimes unseen, but always conscientious efforts, the 1967 Student Council added drive that made this a winning year Dismissal = disappointment.

Dupont's combo concluded an exciting exchange assembly.

HONOR SOCIETY

Twenty-one names were placed behind glass in the hall. These names were behind only the glass, for they led the student body in other respects. The elite were leaders, scholars, and public servants.

Clinic duty, trick-or-treating for UNICEF, and collecting clothing for needy children at Christmas time, showed service. Commencement's gold tassel climaxed scholarship.

Presiding over tapping ceremonies, Bobby Hooper briefs the student body on Society standards.

Bobby Hooper, N.F.L. president, is assisted by sec-treas. Carolyn Moore and vice-pres. Kathy Sutton.

FORENSIC CLUB

Forensics means fear conquered. It means cramming for a contest, hosting thirty-six schools, playing the role, partying at Mrs. Pugh's, being able to out-argue a sign post, interpreting for a class, wearing code G, sweating out results, and bringing home trophies.

A friendly sign and a challenge to compete make for a successful Forensic meet.

Continually planning ideas for the promotion of Latin culture are the J.C.L. officers: Martha Lutz, corres. sec.; David Walker, vice-pres.; Debbie Richey, pres.; Betty Cooper, sec.-treas.; and Mindy Dalton, parliamentarian.

"Pin the eye on the cyclops," was the highlight of games as 54 the J.C.L. members celebrated Christmas, Roman style.

LATIN CLUB

The Junior Classical League helps Maplewood students note the debt of our culture to that of the Greeks and Romans. Initiation is held along the classical lines. The Roman precursor of Christmas is celebrated. Dinner is enjoyed Roman banquet style. Apex of activities is state convention competition in mythology, translation, grammar, costumes, and athletics.

Sponsors Melton and Bucy keep an eye on the F.T.A. officers Jeanette Sturkie (sec.-treas.), Janet Fisher (pres.) and Sheila Pass (vice-pres.).

Roles switched as students stepped for a moment into teachers' shoes. Insight was gained as the members aided teachers and vice-versa. All were learning teaching. All were sampling a career.

1967 saw a rebirth in Maplewood's chapter. Membership more than doubled from previous years. For the first time a Maplewood member held a Metro office.

SOUND OF MAPLEWOOD

Led by the high-topped drum major and the high-cadeted majorettes, the Maplewood High School marching band provided the sparkle for many football games. New precision routines and quality music were typical products of the largest MHS band ever.

They were the sound of school spirit at pep rallies, in Fire Prevention, Hillbilly Day, and Christmas parades, and at winter and springtime concerts. Most of all we remember how they played our song: "Maplewood, our Alma Mater ... M.H.S. all hail!"

"Cinco de Mayo" and "The Lonely Bull" come only after sessions and sessions of practice.

Big man of the band was six-footer Jeff Sanders, Maplewood's first drum major.

DRAKE HARMONIZES VOCAL SOUND OF MAPLEWOOD

First high school vocal group in the Metro system to break the tradition of robes in favor of collegiate blazers is the Maplewood Ensemble. Admitted by audition only, the fifty singers represent the cream of the choral crop.

Exchange concerts at Dupont and Cumberland, music festivals, and performances for the student body were highlights of their '67 itinerary. Audience favorites included soloist Daffery Taylor's "Summertime" in the Thanksgiving program, and Christmas concert soloists Junior Foster, Freddie Goble, and Robert Vaughn. This year's featured female trio, Cherie Vaughn, Sharon Wilee, and Debbie Duncan added variety to the repertoire.

Officers of Girls' Letter Club are Carolyn Campbell (pres.), Sandy Richards (sec.-treas.), and Joyce Everett (vice pres.).

LETTER

Girls' Letter Club members are All-American girls. They are active, graceful, quick, and agile. Their membership is earned and marked by a badge shaped in the letter "M". The badge is one of skill, courage, and perseverance. It was designed to be worn with pride. When they wore it, we were filled with pride.

CLUBS

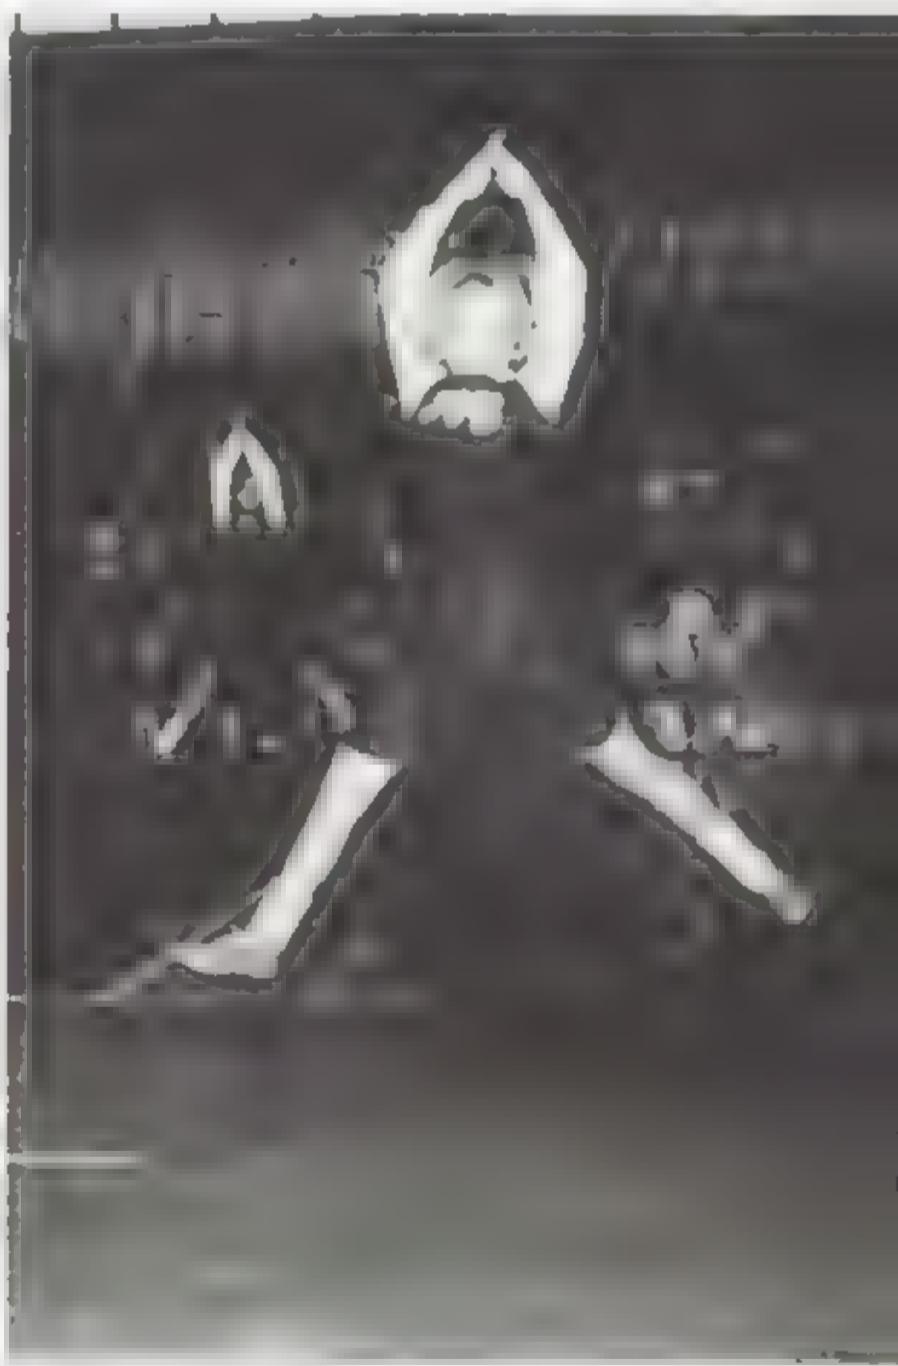

Modern proponents of the Greek ideal are Maplewood's lettermen. Carrying the tradition of knighthood into modern sports, they represented our best. They wore our coat of arms, a big "M". Their code was that of good sportsmanship. Thus, they became our big men on campus during football, basketball, baseball, and track seasons.

1966 CAMPAIGN

Looking adept on some nights and lacking agility on others, the '67 football machine was unable to build a victory streak to satisfy their supporters. The breaks seemed far between as they lost an opener, suffered numerous injuries, and gave away a few heart-breakers. To their credit, they beat Haynes in the rain, held East until the very end, and defeated Dupont, 14 to 6. Center David Carter made All-AA. Tailback Rayburn Cantrell received All-AA honorable mention. With a capable new coach and more than twenty returning lettermen, Maplewood's spirit, and success should be bolstered for the '67-68 grid-iron season.

Head coach Paul Burgess boosts the will to win despite the sting of two early heartbreaking defeats.

LUCKLESS PANTHERS PREVAIL VICTORIOUS

Led by Ronnie "All-Everything" Burnett, varsity cagers suffered what Coach Charles Gann would term a hard luck season. Coming out on the wrong end of the score by the slim deficit of two points in three regular season games kept the Panthers from having an outstanding season record-wise.

A strong win over Cumberland in the late stages of regular season play helped to boost team morale for the district tournament, even though the Panthers were unable to muster enough of an attack to survive in the tough district tourney.

The '67 season ended 11-10 against some of the toughest clubs in N.I.L. history.

1966-67 PANTHERETTES

After losing most of last year's starters, the Pantherettes were not expected to be one of the N.I.L.'s strongest clubs this season. An early defeat only gave the players the incentive to bounce back with a surprising upset over Litton and a highly successful 19-7 season.

Working together as a real unit, the team was able to play in the district and regional tournament for the third year.

With many players receiving recognition in All-Nashville Tennessean and Banner honors, and guard Saundra Bussell's being named All-City, this year's team gave M.H.S. fans another exciting season.

Going over the season's scorebook with captains Sue Easton, Joyce Everett, and Saundra Bussell is Coach Pam Hickman.

RETURNING LETTERMEN ARE FRONT ROW Mgr. Randall Harris, Steve Sanders, Junior Foster, Eric Strickland, Robby Sutton, Doug Pedigo, Mgr. Robin Daniels. BACK ROW Mgr. Ray Morris, Coach Gann, Glenn Hickman, Gary Tomlin, Barry Carson, Ronnie Burnett, Don Pugh, Don Bruce, Marshal Gifford, Coach Woodall.

With thirteen lettermen returning, Coach Woodall and his old pros were set to face their tough schedule. The team was molded into a top-notch ball club during the windy month of March and played the core of its schedule in April. Shelby Park became the team home even on away-games.

Southpaw Don Pugh hopes his opponents won't be as happy over his pitching performance as teammates Doug Pedigo and Junior Foster appear to be.

Coach Woodall discusses the importance of teamwork to his players during a workout preceding their first game.

TRACK TEAM:

FRONT ROW: Errolle Wheeler, Doug Wofford, Golv Harper, Mike Moons, Jimmer Adams, Jerry Williams BACK ROW

Errolle Wheeler runs the anchor leg in the 880-relay.

Speed and coordination are stressed in track events, highlights of the spring sports season. Appearing in white hoods as snow melts, thinclads begin warming up for spring's high hurdles, relays, dashes, shot and discus, broad and high jumps.

Handing off the baton requires split second timing on the parts of Wheeler and Fentress in the 880-relay.

Duane Dickens combines form and speed in winning the low hurdles.

TENNIS LETTERMEN:

Cheryl Terry, Marsha Smith, Lily Hugar, Carolyn Campbell.

With the addition of new tennis courts, tennis interests at Maplewood broadened beyond that of girls tennis. For the first time all students had the opportunity to enjoy this spring sport.

Tennis enthusiasts Marsha Smith and Louie Johnston team up to enjoy their favorite Spring sport.

WRESTLING TEAM:

Sticks set, Sanders and Dickens engage in a competitive game of shuffleboard.

Interscholastic wrestling was introduced at basketball game intermissions this winter. In yellow and black uniforms, M.H.S. grapplers faced man-to-man combat in various weight divisions. Two other new sports, golf and boys tennis, were included in spring sports plans, but were unorganized as the Maplelogue went to press.

Senior Herbie McGehee takes advantage of his free period to enjoy the intramural sport of ping pong.

PLAYERS OF THE GAME

1967 SENIOR CLASS

Becoming a senior means more than promotion from the eleventh grade. The senior year brings the last few minutes of warm-up before the players begin to tackle the real game of life. Each player tries his hardest to go well-prepared into the game of life.

Being a senior means: Prestige and influence. A place of supremacy in the center balcony. Sweating out English IV. Receiving a prom from the Juniors. Squelching challenging Juniors in a Powderpuff game. Struggling for Spring's senior privileges.

Inevitably, some slip into "Senior Slump." Others work diligently toward coveted scholarships. Each secretly realizes that the last time this year is the last time forever. Each takes pride in a little hunk of metal with a stone, a panther, and a symbolic 1967 on it.

The Seniors stick together. For some it has taken six years to become this closely-knit, but what is the point of it all? Graduation and Separation?

After mid-term seniors see graduation just around the corner. Graduation isn't easy or simple. It means grades, credits, announcements, invitations, caps, gowns, and tassels. The most complicated and difficult part is the saying of good-bye.

College, work, a home, or the service looms ahead. For each the choice has been his own if he chose to make it. If he didn't, someone else did.

Being a Senior is the ultimate, the climax, the finale of one's high school year. It is getting a last chance to look into the mirror before going out. It is getting to pause before going into the major league. For the class of 1967 . . . it is over.

JUNIOR CLASS

The Junior year is a come-alive year, when the action starts on campus and in class. It's the first year for cars on campus, for research papers with footnotes, for proms, and for elections to promote.

Students find themselves specializing, to a certain degree, in various fields from science to business to home ec. The accent on Americanism in literature and history makes the eleventh grade seem a patriotic year.

Spring brings with it a flurry of activity for juniors. The prom is the topic of many conversations. The common goal is keeping secret the theme. The next goal is to get it ready on time. Somehow the Prom always turns out better than expected.

For the first time, the impact of Student Council elections hits the juniors. They realize that their support as well as their votes, do count.

So far, year number five has been the greatest. It's hard to realize how only one more carefree summer separates this class from the top.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

The move from the junior high to the senior high bleachers is the first sign of status for Sophomores. Easily they adjust to the senior high point of view. Classes and clubs challenge them now. They get their first taste of world literature and history. Health becomes mental as well as physical.

Sophomores are spirited. They bring enthusiasm and zip into the game. Their do-or-die attitude gives them the courage to tackle any job . . . and win.

The Sophomore year means acceptance into a new league, going out for varsity, trying for a larger letter, and answering the challenge . . . of whatever tomorrow will bring.

FRESHMAN CLASS

Being the top of the junior high and the bottom of the senior high creates a confusing position for Freshmen. Officially being part of each, they must decide where their loyalty lies.

Important in the ninth grade is planning the plays and subjects to make a winning high school season. Tentative strategy for a four-year curriculum must be devised. Each must start with the basics.

With the onset of junior high sports, freshmen take the lead in spirit and support. They back their teams all the way. They display this in pep rallies when they attempt to out-yell the senior high.

Each Freshman is learning the game. Each has a goal and knows the rules. All are trying out for positions. They know this is the last year of amateur play and they make the most of it.

EIGHTH GRADE

Eighth graders take pride in their knowledge that one down and five to go beats none down and six to go. The first steps on the junior high ladder they've climbed. Grades and giggles and girls and guys. Life is opening like a flower. They run from core to phys. ed. to speech, home ec., industrial arts, Spanish, crafts, band, language arts, chorus, or science. Their enthusiasm spills over on us all. No longer are they the greenest of the lot. They've learned to fight back against aggressive hall pushers, and in the process have become aggressive themselves.

"Hands out, correct stance, eye contact, facial expression . . . if only I could get some sound to come out of my throat."

SEVENTH GRADE

For the first time in their lives, seventh graders experience stepping from the top of one ladder to the bottom of another. The big shots from elementary school become the little squirts of high school. Leaving the security of grade school and entering the unfamiliar routine of Junior High is an ordeal for seventh graders. Even Orientation Day cannot prevent the confusion and frustration of the first few weeks.

Soon it will seem as if they'd been here all their lives, for they play an important part in the game. They are the rookies. Some of them have an idea of what the game is about. Others have none. Whether they begin with a bang or a bog, the fact that counts is their eagerness to play.

The in-crowd crowds around the teacher after class. Points made are theirs, not hers.

THE BUZZER SOUNDS FOR OUR LAST TIME

by Sue Easton, Class Poet

The buzzer sounds for our last time,

As we scatter out once more.

Our positions now we all must find

And fight to reach our top score.

For six years we seniors,

Have worked and played the game.

Some among us have known sadness;

Others have found success and fame.

We had experienced coaches,

To help us play the game,

Never really giving up on us,

Trying to help us win a good name.

When depression and troubles

Surrounded our group,

We had one another.

We fought as a troop.

When there came a big defeat,

There came yells from the stands,

Even when in retreat

We had loyal, cheering fans.

We tried hard to do our best

To make our season a big success.

Now though our moment is almost gone,

Our memories and victories will linger on.

Graduation means our season is at its end.

The team of '67 learned to lose and learned to win.

Our lockers we've cleaned; equipment we've turned in;

And a new team waits behind us, ready to begin.
